Pre-Election Frauds Being Probed By U.S. Government

CHARGES ARE NUMEROUS IN MANY STATES

Conspiracy and Bribery Are Charges In Several Complaints In Capital SURVEY COMPLETED

Fraud Is Charged in Two States and Complaints Are Filed In Others

(By United Press) FEDERAL investigation of pre-election frauds is being made in two states and irregularities connected with voting have been reported in several others, the United Press learned in a survey today.

So keen is the campaign, and so many new voters are interested, that perhaps more complaints of illegal registration, conspiracy, and bribery have been made than in any previous presidential campaign.

Bribery, the survey shows:

New Jersey—Justice department agents making statewide investigation after election bribery is charged. Forty thousand names may be stricken from registry books of Hudson and Essex counties.

Texas—Government agents investigate 2000 Democrats' request to President Coolidge for federal supervision of election in Hidalgo county.

Missouri—Charges of ballot stuffing and repeating voting in Jackson county have been reported to authorities.

Eighteen election judges and clerks are under indictment in St. Louis for "false certificate of return" in the August 7 primary.

Ohio—Special grand jury at Cleveland demands ouster of all election board members except one. Charging irregularities in August 14 primary.

Illinois—"Mike De like" Heitler, Chicago vice-lord, arrested in vice-and-politics investigation in which Morris Eller, his son, and 18 co-workers are under indictment for alleged election conspiracy.

New York—Indictments were voted yesterday against 100 persons in connection with alleged Manhattan registration frauds. Additional indictments are sought. Separate investigation in Brooklyn. Sixty-five names stricken from lists in Albany.

Michigan—Twenty-five arrested and 10 new warrants issued for election law violations in Detroit.

Pennsylvania—Lacawanna county registration commissioners seek to purge both Democratic and Republicans lists of illegal voters.

Indiana—Investigation of charges that Democrats used "floaters" to pad registry lists is blocked temporarily.

Massachusetts—After 1,000,000 ballots had been printed, Governor Suller ordered a complete reprinting, on Democratic representations that the names of Governor Smith and Senator Robinson were placed in an unfavorable position. Hoover-Curtis committee investigators alleged illegal registration by opponents.

Oklahoma—Republican state committee claims to have evidence of registration irregularities and says it will file charges.

Arizona—Ballots of Gila county have been ordered reprinted, following Republican charges that names on them were not in alphabetical order.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

FATHER SAYS CRAIG LEWIS VICTIM OF DEEP LAID PLOT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 30.—Craig Lewis, prominent student and athlete of the University of California at Berkeley was the victim of a deep laid plot, in the opinion of his father, Richard L. Lewis, who returned here today from Berkeley where he has been visiting the boy. Young Lewis disappeared mysteriously from his home in Berkeley on October 8 and was found again on the front porch of the home of his fiancee, Miss June Cochran, in Oakland on October 24.

According to the youth's father, young Cochran was bound and gagged when he was found and was in a hysterical condition. Physicians at Oakland reported the lad had been under the influence of drugs, the father stated today. Young Lewis has no recollection of what occurred during the period he disappeared, other than a faint recollection of riding on a street car and sleeping under a tree, the father says.

The boy visited Miss Cochran on the night of his disappearance and returned home about 11:30 p. m. He wrote a letter to his parents after his return and then walked to a corner mail box to mail it. He returned again to his room and there finding he had left his books in his car he went to his garage and secured the books. He was returning to his room when he was struck on the head, according to the father.

WOMEN'S VOTE ON TUESDAY NEXT WEEK TO BE LARGEST IN UNITED STATES HISTORY

By CARL D. GROAT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Both political parties anticipated today that the women vote in next Tuesday's election will be the largest ever. Both sides claim they will benefit tremendously from this vote, and many politicians claim that women will vote quite independently of how their "men folk" do. Such politicians point to known examples of households in which the husband favors one candidate and the wife another. And, they insist, there are thousands

NEBRASKA SENATORS DIFFER ON POLITICS

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 30.—(UP)—Sen. S. B. Howell, in a statement issued today, declared he regretted that he found himself differing seriously with Sen. George W. Norris for the first time since joining of their political fortunes.

The statement is believed to forecast a definite break between the two United States senators from Nebraska. Following his endorsement of Gov. Alfred E. Smith instead of his own party's presidential nominee, Senator Norris said he would also support the candidacy of his colleague.

The methods of each party were largely similar. Women have been told that they play a big role in this campaign, and their interest has been spurred as never before. Many authorities believe women are now only coming to a full realization of the importance and scope of "woman suffrage" though this has been effective, nationally, since 1920.

As reported by the United Press in its recent survey of registration, women have registered heavily this year. Everywhere the politicians are making special efforts to get out this vote. Arrangements are made at some points for precinct workers to see that the dinner and the baby are looked after while mother casts her vote. While the parties are organizing to get out a heavy ballot, non-partisan organizations are stressing the importance of exercising their franchise.

Many women have been particularly susceptible, according to reports here, to appeals based on prohibition.

On the one hand, there has been the appeal that prohibition must not be slackened. On the other there has been the appeal that prohibition requires some changes, on the claim that the present situation has in it elements dangerous to the country's youth.

The radio has played an important part in the campaign for it has reached both men and women in great numbers, whereas "in the old days," father alone was likely to hear political preaching by going to the rallies.

RADIO FANS PRAISE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 30.—(INS)—Governor Young, too, has his radio fan mail, it appears today.

Scores of congratulatory letters today had reached the gubernatorial suite following the executive's Fresno address on behalf of Herbert Hoover's candidacy last week, but none more prized than that from "Calvin Whiting, Hermosa Beach 'shut-in'" who declared the speech a masterful analysis of the national political situation.

A writ of mandamus ordering the reprint has been issued.

70,000 CARLOADS OF GRAPES STATE TOTAL

FRESNO, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Seventy thousand carloads was set down today as the probable total of fresh grape shipments from California this season, approximately 5000 cars less than last year.

Grapes remaining to be moved are mostly of the table variety with estimates of 4500 cars of Emperor for the season.

Child 4, Drowns In Attempt To Rescue Gopher In Cesspool

DOWNEY, Oct. 30.—(UP)—While attempting to save a gopher which had been trapped in a cesspool on the Brommer ranch near here, four-year-old Robert Brommer fell into the water and was drowned late yesterday. An inhalator squad attempted to revive the child and was futile.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—In an attempt to strengthen Los Angeles county's case against Gordon S. Northcott, father of the accused murderer, and Sanford Clark, young Northcott's nephew, whose weird tale of the axe killings on the Northcott poultry farm in Riverside county started the probe.

The local officers also will question Cyrus Northcott, father of the accused murderer, and Sanford Clark, young Northcott's nephew, whose weird tale of the axe killings on the Northcott poultry farm in Riverside county started the probe.

An ugly man can be popular if he has plenty of personality.

Victim of Airplane Crash Dies in Hospital in S. A.

L. B. Aviator Passes Away Early Today

N Inquest to Be Held By Coroner Brown—Cause Of Death Apparent

WITHOUT ever regaining consciousness, M. J. Goulette, 25, 1331 American avenue, Long Beach, died at the Santa Ana Valley hospital at 8:45 a. m. today, of injuries received when his airplane crashed near the Eddie Martin airport here Sunday afternoon.

Death was the result of a basal fracture of the skull which Goulette received in his fall of 200 feet as the plane, a JN 4,侧翻 when Goulette turned away from the wind in making a landing.

Coroner Charles D. Brown announced today that he would not hold an inquest into the aviator's death, the cause of death being apparent. He merely signed a certificate of death and the body was removed to the funeral parlors of Baker and West at Long Beach, where funeral services will be held.

Goulette was inexperienced as an aviator and the accident would not have occurred, according to his friends who witnessed the accident; had he known how to handle the ship in making a landing, the plane was demolished.

The last of the evidence was a characteristically Smithian denunciation of the Anti-Saloon league and the Ku Klux Klan. He sought to link both of the organizations' activities with the republican campaign. He pointed to the league statement repudiating Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska republican, who came out last week for Smith and who has always had the support of even extreme drys.

"In conjunction" with the republican national committee, he declared newspapers had told about a publisher of the anti-Catholic Fellowship Forum traveling with the republican presidential nominee, Herbert Hoover, on his Elizabethan trip. He said a fiery cross had been burned along the railroad tracks as his special train pulled out of Indiana a week ago.

Comparatively hidden in the speech, behind these charges, was the candidate's first statement of his foreign policy and a declaration against what he called the reactionism of the republican party on the issues of farm relief, prohibition, water power, and government reorganization.

The purchases are Merrill-Lynch and Company, who operate chain stores throughout the country.

Williams will remain head of the Piggy Wiggly Pacific Company, and the organization will remain intact.

ARIZONA BALLOTS MUST BE REPRINTED

GLOBE, Ariz., Oct. 29.—(UP)—The ballots of Gila county for November 6 election must be reprinted the superior court has ordered here following charges of the Republican committee that the parties were not arranged in alphabetical order on the ballot.

The Republican committee claimed that the Democrat controlled board of supervisors purposely ordered the illegal arrangement in an attempt to confuse voters.

A writ of mandamus ordering the reprint has been issued.

Dry Agent Given Six Months Term For Shooting Girl

ELYRIA, O., Oct. 30.—(UP)—Luis Cicco, former Lorain dry agent, who was charged with "shooting to wound" Miss Betty Hwywood, 22-year-old British subject, today faced a sentence of six months in the county jail and a fine of $200 as a result of having been found guilty of assault and battery.

The jury, six men and six women, returned its verdict last night after deliberating two hours.

Judge A. R. Webber had instructed the jury of three possible offenses of which Cicco might have been found guilty—shooting with intent to wound, assault and battery, or assault.

The note demanding $10,000 was received by Ray L. Cooper, the woman's husband. It was in an envelope postmarked Sacramento.

Cooper, a street car conductor, was instructed to leave the money on a bridge near San Francisco to night at 10 o'clock. He was warned not to notify the police or bring marked money. Violation of the demands will bring injury to Mrs. Cooper, he was warned.

The two ships met with a glancing blow. Heavy fog was held responsible for the collision.

KU KLUX KLAN ASSAILED BY GOV. AL SMITH

Bourbon Nominee Also Hits Anti-Saloon League In Baltimore Speech

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith came back to his home sidewalks today to carry on his final intensive efforts for the presidency.

A week from tonight he will sit in his hotel home here and receive the election returns. Until then he will be in constant conferences with the democratic managers, taking time out for three speeches, in Newark Wednesday, Brooklyn Friday and Madison Square Garden Saturday.

His case before the jury is nearly complete. He finished the last of the evidence in Baltimore last night, the last parade there yesterday afternoon. From now on it will be rebuttal, not a summing up, by real Smith finish.

The last of the evidence was a characteristically Smithian denunciation of the Anti-Saloon league and the Ku Klux Klan. He sought to link both of the organizations' activities with the republican campaign.

MRS. T. R. MARSHALL URGES SMITH VOTES

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 30.—(UP)—An appeal to the women voters to support Gov. Alfred E. Smith for the presidency was made here yesterday by Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, widow of the late vice president, in an address before the Maricopa County Woman's club.

Mrs. Marshall pointed to Smith's stand on women suffrage, stating that the New York governor called a special session of the legislature to ratify the suffrage amendment and to place New York state among the first to support women's right to the ballot.

The Republican committee claimed that the Democrat controlled board of supervisors purposely ordered the illegal arrangement in an attempt to confuse voters.

A writ of mandamus ordering the reprint has been issued.

Says Prophecy Calls For G. O. P. Victory

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 30.—(INS)—The die is cast for the election of Herbert Hoover, according to one Democrat, who says he has the backing of a prophecy infallible in elections since 1896.

"The prophecy of 1896 calls for the election of Herbert Hoover as it did for the elections of McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge," H. B. Carrigan, self-proclaimed Democrat of Marysville today wrote Governor Young.

"Hoover is more capable than his opponent and 10,000,000 Democrats should vote for him."

The note demanding $10,000 was received by Ray L. Cooper, the woman's husband. It was in an envelope postmarked Sacramento.

Cooper, a street car conductor, was instructed to leave the money on a bridge near San Francisco to night at 10 o'clock. He was warned not to notify the police or bring marked money. Violation of the demands will bring injury to Mrs. Cooper, he was warned.

11 Legion Posts Install Officers At Anaheim

Hundreds At Ceremony In Greek Theater

ANAHEIM. Oct. 20.—Officers of 12 American Legion posts in Orange county were inducted into office in the Greek theater in the Anaheim city park, last night, in the presence of hundreds of representatives of nearly every civic and patriotic organization in the county.

The formal installation was conducted by Phil Dodson, of Pasadena, past state commander. The theater was elaborately decorated for the occasion and amplifiers were installed in order that every one present could hear the program.

Delegations of members from Legion posts of the county accompanied their officers and large delegations of members of the Legion auxiliaries of the county were present to witness the first event of its sort ever staged in the county.

The affair was sponsored by the Orange county Legion council and it is planned to make the joint installation an annual affair.

The program opened with a concert by the American Legion band and an impressive array of passed colors. Jimmie Heffron, of Anaheim, acted as toastmaster.

MAYER WELCOMES DELEGATES. In an address of welcome to the Legionnaires, L. E. Miller, mayor of Anaheim, expressed the pleasure of the city as a whole that the installation ceremonies were held here. He assured the veterans of the interest of the community in their work.

Introduction of the city officials followed the mayor's address. Selections were played by the Santa Ana Legion Bugle and Drum corps and the Orange Boy Scout Marimba band.

Dick Hester, of Garden Grove, past county council commander, gave an outline of veterans' welfare work being done by posts of the county and the state. He also told of the activities of the Legion posts in community betterment work.

A talk was made by Margaret Keading, of Glendale, state first vice president of the American Legion auxiliary, on welfare work that could be undertaken by the posts.

Legion officials introduced invited Charles Van Wyck of Santa Ana, vice commander of the 31st district; H. J. Caldwell, of Ontario, commander of the 31st district; Charles Nico, of El Centro, commander of the fifth area; and Louis Gillian, of Placentia, commander of the Orange county council.

G. A. Glee Club Sings. Several selections were sung by the Santa Ana Legion Auxiliary glee club, under the direction of Mrs. Cecil Foss Willets. Selections by the Fullerton Men's chorus of 40 voices also featured the evening.

In an address given before the formal installation took place, Past Commander Phil Dodson told of the work being done for orphans cared for by Legion posts of the nation. He told what steps had been taken to put the American Legion endowment fund in working shape so that the income from the fund could be used in state activities.

California had been most generous in the establishment of this fund, Dodson said, having contributed $500,000 of the $5,000,000 raised in the nation.

Officers were installed as follows:

Anheim post: Commander, Joe Elliott; 1st vice commander, Kenneth Peck; 2nd vice commander, Roger Sherman; adjutant, Jack Hobson; chaplain, Morris Martindale; Jr.; sergeant-at-arms, Fred May.

Brea post: Commander, F. Hurst; 1st vice commander, Ralph Stegman; 2nd vice commander, Harry Hall; adjutant, James Luck; chaplain, F. Ruble; sergeant-at-arms, M. Varner.

Fullerton post: Commander, A.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Nietzsche offers you the philosophy of the slave who craves to manifest and to exert all his independence which he imagines his master's revolts in using. Christ summons you to co-operation with Him in self-sacrificing service for others. He demonstrates and visualized an ideal of complete trust in the Father and of obedience to His living will.

Following the Master will not insulate you against pain, but it will give you a heartache, but not a headache. His understanding compassion which will make you brave and strong.

VISITORS LEAVE WITH INTENTION OF RETURNING

Completely captivated by the thrifty appearance and "homely atmosphere" of Santa Ana and vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas O'Brien departed today for their home in Council Bluffs, Ia., concluding a visit of five weeks here with Mr. O'Brien's brother, James O'Brien, superintendent of the Santa Ana cemetery.

Asserting that when his brother left his home to come to Santa Ana he was a small boy with approximately 5000 souls, James O'Brien said his relative was surprised beyond measure to find a city of more than 30,000 persons and a community rich in every environment that tends to happy home life.

The Council Bluffs O'Brien is a real estate and bond broker and was so deeply impressed with the possibilities of Santa Ana in particular and Southern California in general that he intimated possibility of returning here to become a permanent resident.

RECORD BUILDING

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—A nine-story apartment building, 100 by 100 feet, was completed here recently. It was built in less than three and one-half months from the time excavating was started. This is believed to be a record in construction work.

BURGLARY LOOT DISPOSED OF IN EAST, BELIEF

That the approximately 25 Orange county persons whose homes were said to have been burglarized during the last year by Edward Davis, alias Baker, 45, Santa Ana real estate man, will never again see most of the articles taken from them was the statement credited to Davis today by Robert Sandon, district attorney's investigator. Davis sent most of the property to a "fence" in the east for disposal, according to the alleged confession.

This statement is borne out, according to Sandon, by the fact that, although a dozen persons have identified property recovered, none of them has found all the articles reported stolen from their homes.

Sandon declared that Davis talked freely with him regarding his "fence" in the east, but refused to disclose his whereabouts. So far, Sandon said, 12 burglaries have been cleared up in Orange county through recovery of stolen property. At least five more are known to have been the work of Davis, he claimed. Three of those cleared up were in Santa Ana and Davis is said to have admitted that there were three more yet unsolved here.

Most of the burglaries were committed in the northern end of the county. Davis is said to have admitted. He also confessed to robbing six houses in Redlands, 10 in Riverside, two in San Diego and two in San Bernardino, Sandon said. Much of the property at the sheriff's office yet unidentified is believed to belong to persons residing in those cities.

Davis admitted, the investigator declared, that there was one burglary committed by him in San Diego which never would be reported. He declined to state why he thought the victims would not make a police report.

No further action has been taken against Davis or Mrs. Lydia Schroeder, 1405 West Fourth street, a real estate woman arrested at the A. M. Stoll ranch, two miles south and one mile east of Norwalk, it was announced today by Eric Eastman, assistant farm advisor.

Davis is known to have escaped from the state penitentiary in Baton Rouge, La., and also to have escaped from officers in Canada, Sandon said.

25,000 Expected To Attend Hallowe'en Celebration

REMODELING OF ORANGE BLOCK IS UNDER WAY

ORANGE, Oct. 28.—Work was begun yesterday morning on the remodeling of the east end of the block on East Chapman avenue between the Plaza and Orange street. The building is owned by K. E. Watson, who purchased it of the local Odd Fellows lodge three years ago.

The old cornice has been removed and the building will be resurfaced with stucco. A projecting roof of red tile will bring the building into harmony with those surrounding it. Ornamental cornices will be placed at the ends of the building in conformity with those on the structure west of it and now being remodeled in the same style. Work of the latter building, the property of the Orange Savings bank, will be finished shortly.

Located in the bank building are the Orange Savings bank, H. L. Teles barber shop, the Edwards and Phillips real estate office and Dr. V. A. Wood.

Firms in the Watson building are K. E. Watson drug store, Alpha Beta store and the Alpha Beta grill. The second floor of this building has not been occupied since it was vacated by the Odd Fellows but it will be made into offices or apartments, Watson said.

FORMER SCOUT CHIEF VISITS BEACH TROOP

NEXT BEACH, Oct. 28.—A Hallowe'en party staged by local Boy Scouts at their regular meeting this week served a double purpose when it became a farewell party for Roland Dye, former Orange county scout executive, who is leaving soon for Fresno to engage in Scout work. The Scout executive's visit was prompted by the fact that the Newport Beach troop was the first formed by him when he started Scout work in the county.

In a short talk Dye commanded the Newport Beach troop and declared that he had always found it to be among the leading troops of the county. He was presented with a pen and pencil set by the Scouts. The Hallowe'en party followed the short business session which was held. The pen and pencil set was presented to Dye by Albert Spencer, troop scribe.

One new Scout was taken into the organization, Stewart Meese, of East Newport. The local Scouts are practicing drums and bugle work; it is announced by A. J. Twiss, Scoutmaster. It is planned to enter a unit from the local troop in a drum and bugle contest at the Armistice day celebration in Orange November 11.

Chicken Feed Scarcer Than Hen's Teeth

90 GUESTS AT 'HARD TIMES' BEACH PARTY

SEAL BEACH, Oct. 28.—The crowing of roosters on back yard fences does not disturb the early morning slumbers of residents of Newport Beach. There are no chickens on the long sandy peninsula known as Newport Beach and Balboa, according to reliable reports.

This amazing fact was discovered by police yesterday when officers endeavored to secure feed for a homing pigeon of the navy, which became weary and sought the comfort of the local jail.

Officers found that stores in the harbor district do not carry chicken feed as there are no chickens here. The feed was procured at Costa Mesa.

Navy officials have been notified of the pigeon's whereabouts. The pigeon is from the South Dakota and is known as No. 700.

W. D. Miller, president of the California State bank, was master of ceremonies in sweeping velvet robe and crown, and as court jester introduced each guest in turn. The men were given special introduction to the "jig of joy" and deposited all the money they had left after buying their costumes.

Games and stunts filled the evening with fun and at a late hour refreshments were served.

Guests included Messrs. and Madames R. E. Delley, D. F. Proctor, J. A. Graham, Fred Smith, A. G. Johnson, L. C. Benne, R. F. Moseley, C. O. Wheat, William Andre, D. D. Lawhead, I. C. A trip to Mount Baldy, which has been planned for some time by the local troop for that day, has been given up and several overnight outings in the future are to be enjoyed instead. All of the members of Troop 9 are working for the first class degree.

The Campfire girls of the Fountain Valley school are to give a play on the evening of November 2 in the schoolhouse.

REPORT OF ORANGE C. OF C. SECRETARY REVEALS GROWTH; BUILDING PERMITS DOUBLED

ORANGE, Oct. 28.—That building permits for the year to date are nearly twice as great as those issued to this date in 1927, was brought out in the report presented by V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Community Chamber of Commerce, at the annual meeting of that body held in the woman's clubhouse last night.

In 1927, Johnson declared, permits on September 1 amounted to $16,170 and on the same date in 1928 they totaled $39,500. The permits for 1928 include the First National Bank building, built at a cost of $15,000; the new American Legion hall, costing $10,000; the new Presbyterian Sunday school room, costing $30,000; the new fine arts and cafeteria building at the Orange Union high school, built at a cost of $40,000, and a new hospital to be built at a cost of $50,000.

Among other civic improvements Johnson mentioned the new city well and the new $12,000 fire truck, the reorganization of the Thistle company with the installation of machinery, the remodeling of a number of buildings including the Orange Savings bank and the K. E. Watson block and in the immediate future the erection of a new $5,000 lead cable plant for the California Wire and Cable company and a new unit to double the capacity of the Santiago Orange Growers' association plant.

Johnson outlined the work done by the chamber of commerce during the past year. These activities included the distribution of 3000 rotogravure booklets regarding Orange and answering nearly 1000 inquiries regarding the city.

The secretary stated that the outstanding single item of advertising done by the chamber had been the production of Queen Valencia's court, which received wide publicity through the nation.

FOOTBALL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—With the all-important Stanford-Trojans today confronted the problem of defeating Howard will, easily won by the absence from the camp of Jimmie Harris, captain and tackle.

Harris is suffering from an attack of influenza and his doctors say that if he is able to be on his feet by Saturday, he will be too weak to do much by way of playing football.

The captain throughout his varsity career has been a tower of strength on the Trojan line. His inability to take an active part in Saturday's game lessens considerably Southern California's chances of stopping "Pop" Warner's battering drives.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 20.—The first serious pre-Trojan casualty struck Stanford during practice last night when Dick Worden, regular end, tore the ligaments in his wrist during scrimmage.

After an examination doctors said that Worden should not engage in heavy work the rest of the week. His presence in the Stanford lineup Saturday against U. S. C. was doubted by the medical men. If Worden is unable to play Muller is likely to substitute.

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 20.—For the past few years the general public has been unable to secure tickets to the annual California-Stanford football game. This year it was learned today, many graduates of California will join the general public in lamenting the wise of the stadium which will accommodate 28,402. At least 4000 ticket applications from graduates cannot be filled.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The Army coaches are not underestimating De Pauw, which plays here this week. The visitors have an excellent record and the Cadets may use some of the new plays they had been saving for Notre Dame.

BERKELEY, Oct. 20.—The heavy Oregon team, opponent of California next Saturday, in Memorial stadium here is not underestimated by Coach "Nibs" Price. The California mentor has shown every indication of respect for the ability of the Webfoot tribe. Price believes Oregon has improved greatly since its defeat by Stan-

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 20.—Princeton realizes that it will meet tough opposition at the hands of the Big State next Saturday. Monday, usually an off day, was the occasion of an extensive practice.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Johnny Garvey, Yale's big star, in the infirmary as a result of the battering he took in the Army game, and will not be able to play until Yale meets Harvard November 24. The squad was given a hard workout yesterday in preparation for the Dartmouth game.

STATE FACING SHORTAGE FOR JR. COLLEGES

The Santa Ana junior college and all other similar institutions in California are using tomorrow's wages to buy today's bread, according to an announcement today by William John Cooper, state superintendent of public instruction.

The recent additional apportionment of state money, which brought the financial aid up to the usual quota, was taken from the emergency fund of the state. Then next year's money from the federal government, derived from lease fees on state mineral land, arrived at the state treasury and was used instead to make up the shortage.

Walter E. Morgan, educational statistician, estimated that the $18,500 deficit which had to be made up this year, would grow into $200,000 or $300,000 in the next two years.

The Santa Ana junior college received $1,143.62 from next year's fund and the Fullerton Junior college received $1,202.70, in the last apportionment.

Now the support of next year's classes is before the state executives. An appropriation will be asked of the next legislature. If it is refused, not only the present junior colleges, but scores of cities which have been requesting new colleges to meet growing local demands, will be decidedly in a bad way.

CONDUCT CLINIC FOR H. S. PAPERS

For the purpose of offering criticism and suggestions for the high school newspaper, the department of journalism at the University of Southern California is conducting a high school newspaper clinic for the editors and supervisors of papers.

Prof. Ivan Benson, head of the journalism department, is in charge of the clinic. Benson has had experience in editing the Kansas high school newspaper, published in the interests of the Kansas Press Association. Professor Benson also served on the journalism faculty of the University of Kansas.

Editors and supervisors of high school newspapers are invited to avail themselves of this service and to ask any questions concerning their individual newspapers.

CLOTHING AND CASH TAKEN BY BURGLAR

Burglars who entered the home of C. J. Smith, 1931 West Washington street, some time Sunday while members of the family were away, stole a hat, overcoat and a $10 bill, according to a report filed with city police yesterday by Smith, who did not discover his loss until he strated looking for the hat, he reported.

Officers who made an investigation reported that footprints of two persons were found near the window.

NOTED AIR TRIOS OF ARMY AND NAVY TO BE AT DANCE PLANNED BY VETERANS HERE

The famous "Three Musketeers" of the United States Army and the equally noted "Three Sea Hawks," of the United States Navy, will be guests at the first annual ball of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, December 5, it was announced today as plans were being perfected for the first meeting of the committees for the event, at the directors' room of the First National bank tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

According to Jack Fisher, general chairman for the affair, assurances have been received that the flyers who thrilled Southern California at the national air races at Mines field recently, will be present at the ball at St. Ann's Inn.

HEADS COMMITTEE

Jack Fisher, commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, is general chairman of the committee which will meet tomorrow night at the directors' room of the First National bank to take first steps in arranging for the first annual military ball of the veterans' organization.

ORANA NAMED 15 YEARS AGO BY OTTO BUER

Everyone knows that Orana, the little community lying between Santa Ana and Orange, was named by someone but few people know that it was named by Orange men.

The name came into being when Otto Buer, state motor traffic officer, operated a garage at this point. The garage was owned with L. C. Smith, of West Orange, and Buer says that he and Smith concocted the name.

At this time, in 1913, the garage was the only business between Santa Ana and Orange. There was nothing but trees along the road and the shoulders of paving were just being put in when Smith and Buer opened the garage.

During the first year the firm was in business automobile traffic had just begun and the old wooden bridge across the Santa Ana river was in use.

Smith and Buer installed the gas light at the Orana intersection, and both have watched with interest the development of the community to which they gave a name.

Police News

Arrested on a speeding charge several days ago, M. J. Crisman, 617 South Birch street, was fined $10 in police court yesterday.

Charged with holding up traffic, Joe Dodd, Santa Ana, was given a $2 fine in police court yesterday.

Three men were arrested as vagrants last night by Officer James Murray and lodged in the county jail.

Charged with vagrancy, Robert L. Bennett was transferred from the city court yesterday to the juvenile court. He was arrested over the week end.

Help Clear Up Deficit

With announcement by Eugene Kahan and Fred Crowell that a deficit of $317 resulted from the aeronautical breakfast at the Martin airport, a week ago, the council appropriated $200 from the advertising fund to assist in cleaning up the loss. The event was admitted by the council to have been one of the best publicity meetings held in Santa Ana in a long time.

Announcement was made by Homer Chaney that property owners interested and raised funds sufficient to rebuild the ornamental lighting system in the southeast part of the city, in disuse for four years. The owners will enter into a private contract with the Marbleite company for reconstruction of the system on Beverly, Normandy and Harwood, between Orange and Oak.

Everett McKinney, 918 Cypress, was denied permission to rebuild a garage at his home for conduct of a battery shop.

An application from Utt and May for permission to establish a nursery sales yard on the Nixon property, at Main and Santa Clara, was referred to the planning commission.

City Manager W. G. Knox was given permission to make improvement in the city pound to comply with suggestions made by the Orange County Humane society.

WHAT, ANOTHER?

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 30.—Who the meanest man? The native coin divers here claim that the practical joker, who wraps pennies in tin foil, making them resemble dimes, and then throws them into the water for the boys to dive after, is the meanest gent.

KILLED BY JOKESENTH

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30.—Mr. Jokesmith* was held responsible for the death of James L. Fitzgerald here, when he caused him to jump from a second story window by calling "Here comes the law!" Friends, who were with him at the time, could not account for Fitzgerald's hasty exit.

PLAN FOR YULE DECORATIONS IN CITY APPROVED

Tentative plans of the Santa Ana Business Men's Association for Christmas illumination of the principal streets of Santa Ana were revealed to the city council last night when R. Earl Ruddy, secretary and manager, appeared before the city body and requested permission to decorate and light the streets in the close-in business district.

Giving additional color to the dance, members of the consular service of the various nations, stationed at Los Angeles and San Diego, will come to Santa Ana for the veterans' event. The consular representatives will attend in uniform, according to Fisher.

Captain Saint Homie, of Los Angeles, veteran of 35 years' service in the French army throughout the world, and who has been decorated countless times, will be a guest, as will other noted people of similar rank.

The United States will be represented by prominent members of the army, navy, marine corps and air service, Fisher said, pointing out that the famous "Three Musketeers" has been reorganized under the leadership of Lieutenant Woodring, of San Diego.

Entertainment between dances will be of the best, according to Fisher, who said that nothing would be omitted in making the first Disabled Veterans' ball a success from every angle.

The citizens' committee composed of leaders in many fields, and the committee of prominent people in the Disabled Veterans' organization, will select chairman and sub-committees tomorrow night, according to Fisher.

The citizens' committee includes Mayor Frank Purinton, J. P. Baumgartner, T. E. Stephenson, W. B. Williams, J. Frank Burke, A. G. Flagg, Eugene Kahn, Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, R. L. Bishay, Col. W. H. Finley, Dr. R. A. Cushman and former Superior Judge Frank C. Drum.

Fisher has named the following committee of the Disabled veterans of the World war: Mrs. Fannie Reeves, Charles Van Wyk, District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., William Murphy, Harry Edwards, Harry Pickard, Louis A. Riehl, Frank Wolters, Deputy District Attorney Sam L. Collins, Maurice Enderle and City Attorney Charles D. Swanner.

Following approval by the planning commission, an ordinance was given its first reading changing the block bounded by First, Broadway, Birch and Second street, and a half block on the south side of First, from Broadway to Birch, from the apartment to the neighborhood business zone.

W. K. Sixsmith was given permission to conduct a class in physical culture.

No protests being filed, the application of R. F. Cribaro, for a change in the zoning of the corner of South Main and Annhurst, was granted. The transfer is from residential to light industrial.

A resolution was adopted abandoning property at the corner of Washington avenue and Polinettia street, the property having been dedicated to street purposes.

Adoption was given the ordinance providing for the establishment of a forester to have direction of tree removal and planting in the city.

Three-Master Schooner

She is an old three-masted schooner, the "Coal Harbor," and to one, whose nostrils expand to the tang of salt air, she breathes the very spirit of romance and adventure. Some of it, legitimate, far too much of it illicit, but all tinged with the glamour of adventure on the high seas.

To those then, the blood of whose veins flows with a liberal admixture of salt, the fact that her bondage on the sand-bar was brief indeed, will come as good news from a friend. For at the second high tide after her going aground, she again floated free, aided in part by the tug Ray II, but mostly by her own power. A winch was constructed on board the schooner with cables running ashore, and when the tide reached its highest point Saturday morning at 5 o'clock, the full force of her auxiliary engines was employed, and the cables slowly, steadily drew her from the sucking embrace of the sands, until she floated free in the deep water of the channel.

But if her nomenclature was drab and colorless, her career was colorful enough to atone. For the schooner entered the secret desperate life of the run-rigger. Adventures came thick and fast when, with her contraband cargoes, she slipped stealthily through forbidden waters.

Eventually came the climax, and the Coal Harbor with her sister schooner, the Quadra, were taken by the American forces as

JUST ANOTHER EXCITING ADVENTURE

During her accidental but fortunately temporary stranding on a sand-bar in the mouth of the harbor at Newport bay, the 100-ton three-masted schooner, "Coal Harbor," found her most ticklish moments when the tide was low and the receding waves left her stern high in the air. It was then that the schooner listed to the angle shown in the picture, here to remain until the rising tide swung her partly afloat. It was when the tide was at its height that she finally pulled free by means of a heavy cable running to the peninsula and a sturdy tug-boat.

ROMANTIC SCHOONER, SAVED FROM SANDBAR, TO BE USED IN MOVIES AT NEWPORT BAY

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

During the gay days of her youth, some fifty years ago, she carried lumber from the great north-west, into all the Seven Seas, sailing with her pine-woods scented cargoes from San Francisco. During the exciting days of the World War, she was accused of carrying supplies to the German forces. In more recent days she has been involved in international affairs again and again as a rum-runner.

And then in her peaceful old field, when she bore "cargoes of ivory, apes and peacocks," or their equally romantic equivalents of spices, or perhaps copra, or the rich stuffs from far-off Cathay.

Completely Overhauled

Time passed, and the art of ship-building progressed. The Little Carson's three masts were insufficient, and she was completely overhauled and rebuilt. Equipped with auxiliary engines, she was also given a new name, and as the "Lenore," was sent back into the exporting trade.

For a number of years her history seems to have been quiet one. And then war blazed out on the face of the earth.

Europe was one vast conflagration, and the United States was toppling ready to fall into the flames when a three-masted schooner with auxiliary engines, but bearing the new name "Rainbow," was taken off the Mexican coast by a Canadian cruiser, and charged with carrying supplies to the German forces. This seems to have been the first venture into illicit dealings made by the once trim and beautiful "Little Carson."

As part of the spoils of war, the vessel was sold by the Canadian government to the Canadian Consolidated Exporters, Ltd., and again she was rebuilt, this time at Vancouver. And again she was given a new name, the unromantic one of "Coal Harbor."

But if her nomenclature was drab and colorless, her career was colorful enough to atone. For the schooner entered the secret desperate life of the run-rigger.

Adventures came thick and fast when, with her contraband cargoes, she slipped stealthily through forbidden waters.

Eventually came the climax, and the Coal Harbor with her sister schooner, the Quadra, were taken by the American forces as

MODEL PLANE LEAGUE OPEN TO S. A. BOYS

Of interest to every boy in Santa Ana is the announcement that any boy interested in aerodynamics is eligible to enroll, without charge, in the Airplane Model League of America, an organization headed by Commander Richard E. Byrd.

The league has no fees, and is able, through the backing of prominent leaders in aviation, to offer free services to all its members.

A chief activity of the organization is the disseminating of information about model airplanes.

These tiny craft, powered with twisted rubber motors, have been completely overhauled and rebuilt.

Equipped with auxiliary engines, she was also given a new name, and as the "Lenore," was sent back into the exporting trade.

According to William B. Stout, head of the airplane division of the Ford Motor company, and a prominent league officer, the elementary principles of aerodynamics can be learned as effectively through the building and flying of model airplanes, as in a college engineering course. Most of the great flyers of today began with models.

Boys aeronautically inclined are urged to send name and address to Merrill Hamburg, American Building, Second street at Lafayette, Detroit, Mich., for particulars about this unique organization.

HAS 1,900 ELEPHANTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(UP)—M. C. Brush, president of the American International Corporation and confidential advisor to President Coolidge on shipping affairs, has a collection of 1,900 elephants, each the gift of a friend.

Elephants in Brush's collection cover a wide range of materials and sizes. Some are made of solid gold, ivory, woods, crystal, precious stones, glass and metals.

Brush carries more than 30 with him at all times, keeping several in each pocket of his clothing.

Wednesday's opening program of the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Southern California Sunday School Council of Religious Education, which will be held in the First M. Many Farewell Parties
Were Complimentary
To Mrs. R. E. Dye

When Mr. and Mrs. Roland E. Dye and family said final "Adios" today to Santa Ana friends and to their pretty home at 2102 North Ross street and departed for Fresno, they carried with them the memory of many happy days in this city, but none pleasanter than the feeling of friendship strengthened by a series of parties arranged as farewell events.

Ever since it was announced that Mr. Dye had resigned his position as Orange County Boy Scout executive to take a similar position with a group of northern counties with headquarters at Fresno, their friends have complimented both Mr. and Mrs. Dye at dinners, luncheons and other social affairs. Probably nothing touched them more deeply, however, than the special service held Sunday morning in the First Baptist church. The Rev. George E. Burdgame, acting pastor of the church, called them both to the altar in the midst of the morning service, and there, in the presence of a large congregation, extolled them for the work they have done in this community, and the place they have formed for themselves in the hearts of their friends. Mrs. Dye was presented with a great cluster of flowers, with Miss Gertrude Minor, president of the Baptist Woman's society, making the presentation.

Social events of the immediate past for which Mrs. Dye has offered incentive included an attractively appointed dinner given by Miss Minor in her home, 181 West Nineteenth street. Covers were laid for hostess and honored guests, together with Miss Grace Roberts, Miss Marie Y. Havens, Miss Effie White and Mrs. M. M. Holmes. After dinner the party enjoyed an hour of music in the Dye home, with Miss Havens at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridley C. Smith of 282 North Ross street, were dinner hosts at another enjoyable affair, with Mr. and Mrs. Dye, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Robinson, their daughter, Miss Elvira Bagby of Claremont, and Geoffrey Wilde, as guests.

One of the merriest gatherings of the J. O. C. Sunday school class of which Mrs. T. R. Swick is teacher, and which had its party honoring Mrs. Dye at the Trawick home, 1024 North Ross street. There were approximately half a hundred present to join in the evening games and in the presentation to the honor guest of a handsome set of ferns.

Mrs. Dye took the form of an ideal hostess when her guests sat around a long table upon delicately orchid covered in the light of innumerable colored tapers in the same lovely style. Places were indicated for Miss Minor, Mrs. Dye, Mrs. J. P. Williams, Mrs. Max Holmes, Mrs. Eugene McBurney, Mrs. L. R. Stearns, Mrs. Ted Cole, Mrs. W. L. Lockett and Miss Elvira May. Needlework and games sped the afternoon hours.

The latest in the series of farewell parties was given by Mrs. Eugene McBurney of 825 Garfield street aided by Mrs. M. M. Holmes and Mrs. Max Holmes, and was a Hallowe'en party at which a score or more guests were entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Dye were to leave this afternoon for Fresno, where they will be located at 3428 Kerckhoff avenue.

Young People Choose Riverside Church For Wedding

Calvary Presbyterian church in Riverside, was the setting on Saturday, October 27, of the noon wedding of Miss Florence Renshaw, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Renshaw, 841 North Garney avenue, and Pearl B. Cook, of Seattle, son of Mrs. F. F. Shirley, 1010 South Flower street, Santa Ana.

The wedding was a very quiet one, the young people taking their vows before the Rev. Ira W. Barnett, pastor of the church, with the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Benson, as sole attendants. Miss Renshaw chose golden brown chiffon velvet for her smart bridal costume, with all dress accessories harmonizing in tone, and a cluster of autumn blossoms in rich hues, adding the final decorative note.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cook left by automobile for a leisurely trip north to Seattle, and the new home awaiting them there. Mr. Cook is with the General Tire and Rubber company in the northern city. His bride, who is a graduate of Santa Ana high school, has been in the local tax office under John C. Lamb, Orange county tax collector, for the past three years, and has a host of warm friends whose good wishes will follow her to her new home.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Birthday Cake, a la Mixing Bowl

Some small girl's or boy's birthday will soon be here and the precious birthday cake is looming up. Let me make a suggestion for the type of cake, frosting and decoration, other than the candles.

And do you remember me telling you months ago about a clever contraption I saw in the kitchenware department of a big store?

A round wooden ring which fits the rim of the plate, pierced with holes for holding the candles—anyone from two to eighty may have their candle wreath.

Make a simple white layer cake, put it together with the white frosting I told about, the kind made by putting egg whites, water and sugar into a double boiler and whipping while it cooks for exactly 6-1/2 minutes. (1 egg white, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cold water).

The crowning touch is added in the fat marshmallows anchored in the frosting. These are dusted with cinnamon and slipped under a flame to toast for 30 seconds.

Toasty brown top and RED candies, don't you think?

TODAY'S RECIPE

Stuffed Peppers

6 medium sized peppers

1-1/2 pounds chopped steak

1 cup dried bread crumbs

1 clove of garlic, minced

2 eggs, well beaten

3 tablespoons grated cheese

1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Salt and pepper

—Sarah Bavicahi

Select fat, squatly peppers, cut out the stem end and remove the seeds. Stuff them with the meat mixture and bake in a casserole for 45 minutes at 350 degrees, or moderate oven. Buy 1-2 pound of chopped steak and reserve 2 tablespoonsful for sauce.

If you have some nice bacon fat add a couple of tablespoonsful to 1-1/2 cup of water and use to baste while cooking.

Directions for putting together the filling are hardly necessary; just see that the garlic is minced so fine no particle will taste and mix the ingredients very thoroughly. Fill the peppers very loosely. If packed in tight the filling will be tough and unpalatable.

TOMATO SAUCE FOR THE PEPPERS

2 tablespoons chopped steak

3 tablespoons bacon fat

1 No. 2 can tomatoes

1 clove of garlic, minced

1 teaspoon minced parsley

2 bay leaves

1 tablespoon grated cheese

Salt and pepper to taste

Just a word about the cheese: The author specifies Italian cheese, "Romano Pecorino," but should that not be available you can always get Parmesan cheese. Here are the sauce directions.

Brown the meat with the bacon fat, add the garlic and parsley, salt and pepper, cover and cook for ten minutes, add the can of tomato, strained, the bay leaves and a little more salt and pepper. Cover and cook until the meat is tender. Add a tablespoonful of grated cheese 15 minutes before the sauce is served. Take up the peppers and pour the sauce around them.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE!

I want every woman who reads this column and uses the recipes to send in a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the current leaflet, "A $1.50 LUNCHEON FOR EIGHT."

You can use one single recipe in the leaflet for every day occasions, and enjoy them all. I have originated a way to serve two of the old standbys, spinach and squash, that is absolutely brand new and ALL MY OWN—a luscious big vegetable sandwich loaf. Does that provoke your curiosity?

Calories in the peppers and sauce for individual portions are 250 each and they don't err on the side of the fat calories either.

Marriage Is Announced At Bridge Club Meeting

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Frances Hillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Blaiddell of Claremont, became the bride of Thomas S. Warren of Los Angeles, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Warren of Buena Park, which occurred last Saturday in Yuma, Arizona, we made last night at a pretty party given at the Hillman home by Miss Agnes Lieberman and Mrs. Faulkner.

Guests at the affair were members of a bridge club of which Mrs. Faulkner is a member, and they supposed the party to be only the usual meeting of the club. In fact they had planned a surprise for Mrs. Faulkner, Miss Della Iman and Miss Mildred Vieira in celebration of their birthday anniversaries which occurred this week.

Bridge was enjoyed during the evening hours and resulted in prizes being won by Miss Mary Banks and Miss Mildred Vieira.

Hallowe'en decorations were used in arranging the table for the supper hour when delicious refreshments were served. It was by means of the supper place cards that the wedding announcement was made.

Guests included Miss Della Iman, Miss Mildred Vieira, Miss Bernice Gohres, Miss Helen McCann, Miss Beatrice Reilly, Miss Mary Banks, Miss Marie Rudolph, Miss Grace Smith, Mrs. E. H. Wetzel, Mrs. Barney Brock, Mrs. Robert Lubrey of Long Beach, and Mrs. Mary Hillman, the bride's mother.

Mr. Faulkner is an architect and is employed in the offices of V. W. Westbrook of San Clemente. He attended Santa Barbara State college.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Deck of 234 Fairfield street had a dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Keller and Mrs. Keller's mother, Mrs. May Hubbell, all of Los Angeles. The dinner was given in honor of Dr. Keller who was celebrating his birthday anniversary.

Br. and Mrs. Gid M. Wilson of Pasadena were guests Sunday of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Pullin of 1806 North Broadway. The dinner, which was served at noon, celebrated the first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Leahy of 519 South Sycamore street and Mrs. Leahy's mother, Mrs. H. D. Kennedy, and her sister, Mrs. C. A. Greenleaf, have returned from an eastern trip during which they visited in Washington, D.C., New York City, Chicago, and the Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Margaret Litten, manager of the Little Maternity home, who has been ill for some time is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Kelly of this city will return home tomorrow from an European trip of several months' duration. Mr. Kelly is manager of the Abstract Title Fuaranty company.

Miss Mayme Brightwell, who has been spending the past three months with friends and relatives in the middle west, had returned to Santa Ana and is with Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Claycomb, 715 North Main street. During her absence, she spent some time in Saline and Pine county, Minn., visited in Kansas City, and on her homeward journey, stopped in Nogales for a visit. Miss Brightwell, who had been seriously ill in the spring, found the trip extremely beneficial, and returned to Santa Ana in glowing health.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Meyer of 1712 North Main street, have returned from a few days' visit in San Diego where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Meyer.

Miss Eddie Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Douglas, 225 North Broadway, is home from a summer spent with relatives and friends in Wisconsin, Illinois, and other middle western states.

The former family home in Milwaukee was one of the most interesting points visited, and there Miss Douglas was the guest of her sister, Mrs. G. H. Douglas. In Le Grange, Ill., she visited another sister, Mrs. H. J. Moore. A few days on her homeward trip, were spent with friends in San Francisco.

MISS RUTH OAKES HOME
From Visit In
In East

After nearly six months in the east during which she visited her former home in Providence, R. I., and other cities of the east coast, including Boston and Georgetown, Mass., Miss Ruth Oakes has returned to her home at 1828 North Ross street, rejoining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Oakes, who preceded her in returning from the east, about a month.

Miss Oakes also started east a month in advance of her parents, stopping in Chicago for a week's visit with her aunt, Mrs. L. F. Oakes, who later moved to Detroit, and whom she visited in Detroit on her homeward journey. One pleasant feature of her summer was when she acted as councilor at Camp Keokuk, an exclusive girl's camp on Lake Pentucket in Massachusetts.

This was Miss Oakes' sixth season as camp councillor, the camp having been founded ten years ago.

There were thirty girls in camp and six counselors, and the activities included riding, swimming, hiking and other out-door pursuits. The Santa Ana girl, who is an accomplished harpist, devoted small time to her music during the summer, making the trip entirely for relaxation from studies and practice. However she expects to resume her musical activities at once here in her home city.

Encinitas Man Wins Pretty Tustin Bride

Quantities of chrysanthemums in gay autumn colors and amaxia were used in decorating the Christian Advent church at Tustin for the wedding of Miss June Forney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Forney of Tustin, and Mr. W. H. Healey of Encinitas, which took place Sunday evening.

Miss Forney made a very lovely bride in her becoming gown of white satin and lace with which she wore silver accessories. Her bouquet was of rose buds and greenery.

The Rev. William E. Snider, pastor of the Christian Advent church, read the service.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forney which had been decorated for the occasion in autumn flowers in tones of yellow and bronze.

The young people left for a honeymoon at Big Bear valley, after which they will make their home in Encinitas where Mr. Healey is a rancher.

The bride is a graduate of the Tustin high school and her husband graduated from the Fullerton high school.

SHAMPOO OR MAN

Clubs
FashionsWOMAN'S PAGE
*by Louise StephensonThe WOMAN'S DAY
by ALLENE SUMMER

The lovely eyes of Queen Marie of Rumania wept tears as large as her priceless pearls, tears for the whole world to see, when her oldest son, Prince Carol, next in line for the throne, renounced that throne, his kingdom, his family and his people, for love of a commoner whom he would not yield for all the thrones in the world.

Queen Marie, now the dowager queen, weeps for the whole world again and holds out hands for pity as her second son, Prince Nicholas, a member of the regency of three managing affairs of state for the young king, Prince Michael, throws up his job and flees with his own lady, a Miss Dumetrescu Tahon.

Prince Nicholas merely mumbles, as thousands of lesser youths have mumbled to reproachful and demonstrating parents, that he doesn't like his job; that he does not even care a hoot if the state confiscates his property; that such words as loyalty and doing the hard thing, renunciation, sacrifice mean nothing compared with the loss of the woman he loves.

What drama for a queen! Her two sons on whom she had pinned her hopes, leaving her with the wreckage!

And yet how does it differ from the story of thousands of parents, mothers of lesser ranks, mothers who do not wear pearls and tiaras and court trains and are not called "Europe's Most Beautiful Queen."

Queen Marie has only learned what all parents learn sooner or later—that a parent can not control or chart the life of her children; that today as never before, with education shouting that children's lives belong to themselves and not to anyone else, it is almost the sheerest folly for any parent to plan that child's life, or to expect that any parent-made plan will ever be carried out.

This parent and child business was a much simpler thing years ago when an agricultural world naturally and automatically absorbed the boy into the soil just as it had absorbed the man, his father.

There was no bewildering complex commercial and industrial and business and professional world offering myriad possibilities of escape to the boy who somehow did not fit into the soil.

To be sure, there were a few cities and there were a few boys and girls who trudged away to the place of bright lights with all their worldly possessions tied up in a red bandana.

But it was taken for granted as that the sun rises and sets that the boys would stay on the farm with Dad until they married and rented farms of their own, that the girls would stay home and help "Mother" till they married some neighbor's farmer boy, and that sometimes "the children" even when married would just stay on at home and help run the big home place for the consideration of certain fertile acres deeded them.

The boy who scorned the tradition and left home to take a business college course was censured by parents and the community and the parents dropped their heads in shame a little to think that a child would so publicly flout them.

But times have changed. It's a brave parent, indeed, who dares even plan or hope that the son will continue on with his father's business. The trend of the age is that every individual life is his or her own to do with as he or she sees fit.

Lesser mortals have learned this.

Queens have not. So they weep and moan when the inevitable happens.

THE TINYMITES
Story & Art Cochran — Pictures by Knick

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Well, well," the burly captain cried. "Now that the whale's dropped over the side, and all you little lads are safe, please tell me who you are. I know that you're called Tinymites, and that you're out to see the sights, but that's not all there is to know about you lads, by far."

The Tinymites all thought a while. Then Scout's face broke in a smile. "I fear there's nothing else to tell about our bunch," said he. "We merely came upon this earth to hike for all that we were worth. Whenever we're on the go we are as happy as can be."

"What, don't you ever work a bit?" the captain asked. "Do you just sit around and take things easy? Why I'm quite ashamed of you. You all look healthy, also strong and that is why I think it wrong for you to loaf. I'm sure I'll find some things for you to do."

"Oh, my we wouldn't mind at all," said Copy. "When you us call and we will come a-running." "Well, that's fine," the captain cried. "Your promise I will surely keep in mind, but now you need some sleep. I'll take you to your bunk room if you'll follow me inside."

They reached the room on board the boat and then the captain said, "Take note that there is room for all of you. Now keep this room real clean." Then, out he went, and Clowny said, "A plan just popped into my head. Let's make some things to have some fun. Tomorrow's hallowe'en."

Of course to this they all agreed and looked for things that they would need. They found some sticks and feathers and made ticklers. My, what fun! And then they made some tick-tacks too. Said Clowny, "Gee, what we will do! We'll scare the funny captain when our cute tricks are begun."

That startling drama by Tully, "Beggars of Life," with its background of a colorful and little known world within a world, was filmed at the Paramount studio in Hollywood and is showing at the Walker theater.

Wallace Beery, with Richard Arlen and Louise Brooks, heads the cast of "Beggars of Life," and William Wellman, directed this production.

There are many strange jargons and lingoos in tramp life," says Tully, who himself spent eight years on the road.

"Tramps are inventors of words for their own use which now and then pass into popular slang and sometimes into the language. The words bloke, stall, bushouse, stiff, yegg, boomer, keister (for suitcase) and bennie (for overcoat) are their inventions.

Supporting Wells in "The Crimson Canyon" is an excellent cast, headed by Loftus Thompson, beautiful Australian actress.

Added attraction at the West end, is Myrtle Stedman, for many years one of the leading stars and who is playing in the Tiffany-Stahl production "Their Hour."

Miss Stedman entered the movies when they were still in their infancy and soon she was one of the most popular screen artists. Lately she has appeared in many leading productions. "Lonesome," the Universal talking picture now at the Broadway theater, poignantly portrays the emotions of a boy and a girl, lonesome to the point of tears, who eventually overcome the pall of lonesomeness and find happiness in each other.

No other film ever made quite approaches the novelty and wonderful heart-appeal of "Lonesome." It touches the new note in modern motion picture art. It was directed by the Continental genius, Dr. Paul Fejos, a master of narrative, and depicts life in a highly original and bizarre manner. The synchronization of gripping dialogue and colorful sound effects is especially good.

Glenn Tryon, noted comedy star, departs from his usual "line" and enacts the leading role in "Lonesome." Barbara Kent plays the girl. The picture was personally supervised by Carl Laemmle Jr. and was adapted by Edward T. Lowe Jr., from an original story by Mann Page.

STARVATION IN CHINA SPREADS. REPORT SHOWS

By D. C. BESS

United Press Staff Correspondent

PEKING, Oct. 30.—(UP)—The famine in Shantung province this winter will not be so severe as it was last winter, but in parts of Southern Chihli province it will be much worse, John Earl Baker, general secretary of the American Committee for Famine Relief in China, informed the United Press. Baker has just completed a full survey of famine condition in the two provinces.

In the worst area, in southern Chihli, Mr. Baker said that about 50,000 persons are near starvation today, and will die this winter unless relief is forthcoming. Thousands already are subsisting on a diet of fried grasshoppers and dried leaves mixed with a little barley corn, he said.

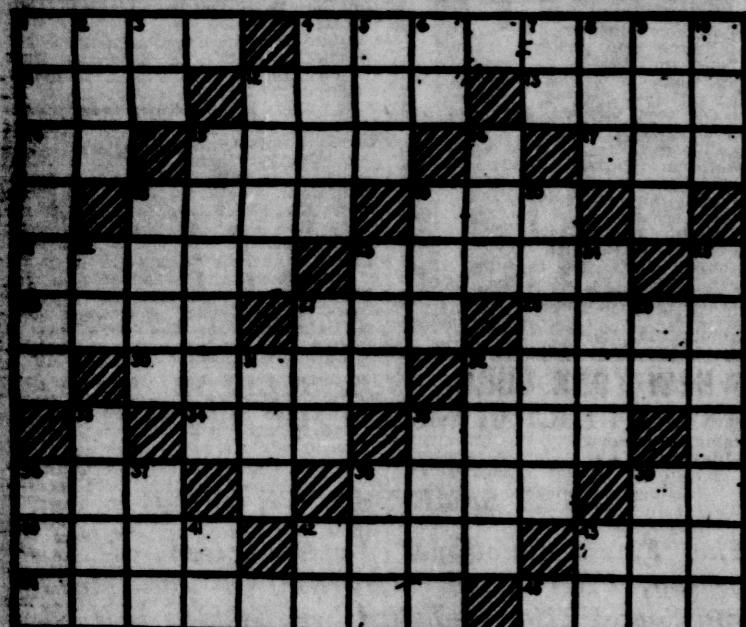

The American committee has advanced part of the $200,000 already raised for immediate and direct relief, Baker added.

Nationalist officials in Shantung and Chihli welcomed Baker, he said, in spite of the announcement of Dr. C. T. Wang, Nationalist Foreign Minister, that the American scheme to build roads and dykes to give famine sufferers relief is not welcomed.

A former bandit chief, who has been enrolled in the Nationalist army, controls one of the worst famine areas in Shantung, Baker reported. Bandits are still active in Shantung, he said, and the Nationalist army has not yet attempted to check their raids. The bandits are of two kinds, Baker declared—"pure devils and poor alleged rum runners. The Lottie Carson had started back home.

Home Again Soon

It isn't going to be very long now, until she will complete her journey and be home once more. For the involuntary stay on the sand-bar within the mouth of Newport harbor was but a temporary one. The Rodger brothers, C. G. and E. D., prominent garage men and boat builders, and Avery Graham, all of Balboa, purchased the historic old vessel from the United States government, and have bright plans for her future.

They were bringing her into the harbor last Thursday night, with a view to her re-building and general overhauling, when the boat grounded.

Said some the tug fell a little short in power, but one of the new owners explained that the fault lay in the fact that the schooner was attempting to come in with too great a load. The vessel was carrying two immense anchors, and had they dropped these overboard for another smaller, lighter boat to bring them in, they would have negotiated the shallow entrance with no trouble. However, the bow of the boat swung clear in the channel all the time with only the stern grounded, so it was a comparatively simple matter to float her free with high tide.

The Coal Harbor is now riding at anchor at the dock of the Rodger Boat works, and will undergo a complete overhauling. One of the first things her new owners will do, will be to restore to her, her maiden name of the Lottie Carson, abandoning the long list of names under which she has adventured into dark waters. Then with the rebuilding and renovation, her future looks bright indeed, for the boat is destined for motion picture work, and already two companies, the Tiffany and the Harry Campbell production companies, have signed contracts for her use on Newport bay. Future movie fans will gaze on her trim lines and soaring masts admiringly, nor dream that they are looking at a fair lady whose past is darkly variegated despite her heart of gold.

PRO FOOTBALL TO HAVE GOOD SEASON

With the Yankees and despite little help from the Yankee line in the early games made several good runs and performed capably under the circumstances.

Friedman Stands Out

The outstanding star of the early games has been Benny Friedman, the former Michigan quarterback. Inspired by Friedman's brilliant all round work, the Detroit team started a winning streak and early jumped into the lead in the National league.

The Wolverines swamped both the New York Yankees and Giants in the opening games against those teams.

Friedman's passing and running has been of the same high calibre as it was during his stellar days at Ann Arbor. In the first game against the Giants, Friedman broke through tackle and ran 58 yards for a touchdown.

The opposition has never been able to fathom Friedman's long down the field passes and at least once in every game he completes one for 40 yards or more.

The most successful professional teams all have highly developed forward pass attacks and gain most of their ground by this means. The big experienced linemen such as are found in professional football make it difficult for even a star college back to gain ground through the line.

The Providence Steam Rollers, another of the most successful pro teams, have a dazzling aerial game built around George Wilson, the former Washington Wildcat.

Thelma Smith, high 9, and Phillip Hood, 10, section, won the posture contest which ended last Friday morning with a demonstration in the assembly hall. Two representatives, a boy and a girl, from each section had been chosen to represent their respective classes and the judges were Miss Eliza Both Curtis, Dr. G. C. Ruble, and Mr. Walter Scott. During the past week the attention of the students has been called to good posture and they have been working on the rules given them. Miss Margaret Van Scoyoc, school nurse, had charge of the contest.

Will Lecture

Frederick Monson, noted explorer, is coming again to speak at Willard. He will deliver his lecture on "Indians of the Uncharted Desert" on Monday, November 5. Mr. Monson's home is in Pasadena but he has been all over the world and has had some wonderful experiences. In his lecture next Monday, Mr. Monson will use illustrated slides which he painted himself. All parents and friends are invited to hear this lecture. A collection will be taken at the door.

Boys Radio

Willard has purchased a radio which will be paid for by the operetta money this year. The new radio is a Splendor. It was chosen from a number of different radios because of its tone quality and distinctness.

The new Splendor has been used for the music appreciation programs every Thursday morning and for the football games on Saturdays. The students are especially anxious to do their part in selling operetta tickets to pay for the radio.

Talk to Boys

Last Tuesday, Mr. J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools, gave an interesting talk to Mr. Read's vocations class of boys. He spoke of the advantages and disadvantages of aviation, engineering, and various other popular vocations. He spoke mostly of the teacher's profession, giving an idea of the salaries of the different kinds of teaching and many interesting facts. His talk was greatly enjoyed by the boys as they felt they had gained much worthwhile knowledge on several interesting lines of work.

The Greene Murder Case

By S. S. Van Dine

"Oh, I wouldn't have stopped it in any case," interrupted Vance. "I discharged my wholly mythical duty to the state when I warned the sergeant. However, I didn't know at the time, Von Blon just gave me the information. When I told him what had happened I asked him if he had ever lost any other poisons—you see, I couldn't imagine any one planning so devilish and hazardous an exploit as the Greene murders without preparing for the eventualities of failure."

"He told me he'd missed a tablet of cyanide from his darkroom about three months ago. And when I jogged his memory he recalled that Ada had been poking round there and asking questions a few days before. The one cyanide tablet was probably all she dared take at the time; so she kept it for herself in case of an emergency."

"What I want to know, Mr. Vance," said Heath, "is how she worked this scheme. Was there any one else in on the deal?"

"No, sergeant Ada planned and executed every part of it."

"But how?"

Vance held up his hand.

"It's all very simple, sergeant—once you have the key. What misled us was the frenzied cleverness and subtlety of the plot. But there's no longer any need to speculate about it. I have a printed and bound explanation of everything that happened. And it's not a fictional or speculative explanation. It's actual criminal history, garnered and reduced by the greatest of the sub-set of the world has yet known—Dr. Hans Gross, of Vienna."

"I phoned Currie from the hospital, and he has a belated dinner等着 for us. When we have eaten I'll present you with a reconstruction and exposition of the entire case."

"As you know, Markham," Vance began, "when we were seated about the library fire late that night, I finally succeeded in putting together the items of my summary in such a way that I could see plainly who the murderer was. Once I had found the basic pattern, every detail fitted perfectly into a plausible whole. The technique of the crime, however, remained obscure; so I asked you to send for the books in Tobias' library—I was sure they would tell what I wanted to know."

"First, I went through Gross' Handbook for Unstruchungsrächer, which I regarded as the most likely source of information. It covers the entire field of history and science of crime; and, in addition is a compendium of criminal techniques, citing specific cases and containing detailed explanations and diagrams. Small wonder it is the world's standard cyclopedic on its subject."

"As I read it, I found what I was looking for. Ada had copied every act of hers, every method, every device detail, from its pages—from actual criminal history! We are hardly to be blamed for our inability to combat her schemes; for it was not she alone who was deceiving us; it was the accumulated experience of hundreds of shrewd criminals before her, plus the analytic science of the world's great criminologist—Doctor Hans Gross."

He paused to light another cigarette.

"But even when I had found the explanation of her crimes," he continued, "I felt that there was something lacking, some fundamental penchant—the thing that made this orgy of horror possible and gave visibility, so to speak, to her operations. We knew nothing of Ada's early life or of her progenitors and inherited instincts; and without that knowledge the crimes, despite their clear logic, were incredible."

"Consequently, my next step was to verify Ada's psychological and environmental sources. I had had a suspicion from the first that she was Frau Mannheim's daughter. But even when I verified this fact I couldn't see its bearing on the case. It was obvious, from our interview with Frau Mannheim, that Tobias and her husband had been in shady deals together in the old days, and she later admitted to me that her husband had died thirteen years ago, in October, at New Orleans, after a year's illness in a hospital.

"She also said, as you may recall, that she had seen Tobias a year prior to her husband's death. This would have been fourteen years ago at the time Ada was adopted by him."

"There might be some connection between Mannheim and Gross, and I even toyed with the idea that Gross was Mannheim, but a dirty thread of blackmail through the situation. So I decided to investigate."

"On our previous trip last week after a time, no doubt, the conception became real. She saw its practical possibilities; and the terrible plot was formulated. She created this horror; and then, with her diseased imagination, she came to believe in it. Her plausible stories to us, her superb acting, her clever deceptions—all were part of this horrible fantasy she had engendered. That book of Grimm's 'Fairy-Tales'!—I should have understood. Y see, it wasn't histrionism altogether on her part; it was a kind of demoniac possession. She lived her dream. Many young girls are like that under the stress of ambition and hatred. Constance Kent completely deceived the whole of Scotland Yard into believing in her innocence."

Vance smoked a moment thoughtfully.

"It's curious how we instinctively close our eyes to the truth when history is filled with substantiating examples of the very thing we are contemplating. The annals of crime contain numerous instances of girls in Ada's position, who have been guilty of atrocious crimes."

"Keep to the present, Vance," interrupted Markham impatiently. "You say Ada took all her ideas from Gross. But Gross' handbook is written in German. How did you know she spoke German well enough?"

"That Sunday when I went to the house with Van I inquired of Ada if Sibella spoke German. I put my questions in such a way that she could not answer without telling me whether or not she, too, knew German well; and she even said 'Yes'."

"No, sergeant. I merely mean that the potentialities of criminality had been handed down to her in her blood. When the motive for the crimes became powerful, her inherited instincts asserted themselves."

CHAPTER 40

"But mere money," put in Markham, "seems hardly a strong enough motive to inspire such atrocities as Ada's."

"It wasn't money alone that inspired her," said Vance. "The real motive went much deeper. Indeed, it was perhaps the most powerful of all human motives—a strange, terrible combination of hate and love, and jealousy and a desire for freedom. To begin with, she was the Cinderella in that abnormal Greene family, looked down upon, treated like a servant, made to spend her time caring for a nagging invalid and forced—as Sibella put it—to earn her livelihood. Can you not see her for fourteen years brooding over this treatment, nourishing her resentment, absorbing the poison about her, and coming at length to despise every one in that household?"

"That alone would have been enough to awaken her congenital instinct. One almost wonders that she did not break forth long before. But another equally poor element entered the situation. She fell in love with Von Blon—a natural thing for a girl in her position to do—and then learned that Sibella had won his affections. She either knew or strongly suspected that they were married; and her normal hatred of her sister was augmented by a vicious and eroding jealousy.

"Now, Ada was the only member of the family who, according to the terms of old Tobias' will, was not compelled to live on the estate in event of a marriage; and in this fact she saw a chance to snatch all the things she craved and at the same time to rid herself of the persons against whom her whole passionate nature cried out in deadly hatred. She calculated to get rid of the family, inherit the Greene and set her cap for Von Blon.

"There was vengeance, too, as a motivating factor in all this; but I'm inclined to think the amatory phase of the affair was the prime activating force in the series of horrors she later perpetrated.

"It gave her strength and courage; it lifted her into that ecstatic realm where anything seemed possible, and where she was willing to pay any price for the desired end. And there is one point I might recall parenthetically—you remember that Barton, the younger maid, told us how Ada sometimes acted like a devil and used vile language. That fact should have given me a hint; but who could have taken Barton seriously at that stage of the game?"

"To trace the origin of her crimes," he continued, "I felt that there was something lacking, some fundamental penchant—the thing that made this orgy of horror possible and gave visibility, so to speak, to her operations. We knew nothing of Ada's early life or of her progenitors and inherited instincts; and without that knowledge the crimes, despite their clear logic, were incredible."

"Consequently, my next step was to verify Ada's psychological and environmental sources. I had had a suspicion from the first that she was Frau Mannheim's daughter. But even when I verified this fact I couldn't see its bearing on the case. It was obvious, from our interview with Frau Mannheim, that Tobias and her husband had been in shady deals together in the old days, and she later admitted to me that her husband had died thirteen years ago, in October, at New Orleans, after a year's illness in a hospital.

"There might be some connection between Mannheim and Gross, and I even toyed with the idea that Gross was Mannheim, but a dirty thread of blackmail through the situation. So I decided to investigate."

CAUSE OF AMAZING REGISTRATION

The registration figures gathered by the Associated Press show 53,000,000 men and women voters prepared to vote next Tuesday. This is by far the largest number ever registered.

Judging by past performances, it is expected that about 35,000,000 will actually vote. What has caused this amazing expression of interest? The ordinary political and economic issues would not arouse such a will to participate. The attempt to make prosperity or the tariff or national participation in business the issues of the campaign was a dismal failure. Farm relief can hardly be a live issue as both parties make the same sort of promises, and both falling short of the essential principle of the McNary-Haugen measure, to-wit, the equalization fee.

The real issues are more personal and one of them at least touches everyone of the one hundred and ten millions of people. These real issues are first, whether or not there shall be an attempt to repeal the 18th Amendment and modify or repeal the Volstead law.

While both parties have officially refused both by word and conduct to be drawn into a religious controversy, the fact that one candidate is a Quaker and the other a Roman Catholic, while not being an issue in any avowed sense, has undoubtedly had the effect of increasing the interest in the campaign and has had its influence in increasing the registration.

In no campaign since 1896, when free silver was the paramount issue has there been so much discussion whenever men meet.

In spite of the efforts of the parties, as we predicted at the beginning, the overwhelming issue of this campaign, has been the liquor question. This question will probably enter into the final judgment of the great majority of voters in a greater or lesser degree. It is not so much as to what a President can actually do about it as it is the personal attitude of the candidate toward the question.

Both wet and drys want to be in a position to take advantage of whatever a President can do, either for or against measures and methods affecting the whole question of the liquor traffic.

The influence of the chief executive, aside from his power to veto an appointment, is the greatest single factor in determining the attitude of Congress and the spirit of those who have charge of the actual enforcement of the 18th Amendment and the Volstead law.

This question in some degree, as always, touches the life and welfare of every single individual whether he uses intoxicating liquor or not, and therefore he wishes to register his convictions through the ballot, whether these convictions are merely mercenary or have to do with the individual and social welfare.

While the result will not be a clear cut and unmixed decision on the liquor question, this has been the chief issue and will be hailed as a great victory for the wet and drys and rightly so. Governor Smith stands for intoxicating liquor and Mr. Hoover against intoxicating liquor.

In 15 Kansas counties the wheat yield is expected to run 15,000,000 bushels above that of last year. General boards of trade are reported as anxious to relieve the farmers of some of it without any charge.

THE SPREAD OF STOCK SPECULATION

The Stock Exchange continues its mad rush of business. Three and a half million share days are becoming quite normal. The New York Stock Exchange directors are considering the question of increasing the number of members, so that the business may be cared for more expeditiously. Among the members now making up the exchange there are a great many who are inactive. This throws the bulk of business into fewer hands. People who never thought about the stock market ten years ago are now passionately interested. They scan the market reports each morning with the same interest as the professional speculator. There are literally millions of these people scattered over the country, and one of the reasons for the rise in stocks is due to the increasing demand of this new investing or speculative public.

Undoubtedly this wave of investing or speculating in the stock market finds its beginning in the general sale of Liberty bonds during the war. Before that time there was only a small percentage of our people who knew anything about bonds or stocks. Most of the money of these people went into the savings banks. It was only a step from investing in bonds to investing in stocks. Another factor which has entered into the matter has been the sale of preferred stocks of utility companies directly to the public. No little of the increased capital for the extension of utility companies has been made possible by this direct sale of preferred stock. To this must be added the great number of large business and manufacturing concerns who have encouraged the workers by selling their stock to them on the installment plan.

The change that is coming about now is the shift on the part of the public from the purchase of bonds and preferred stocks to common stock. Many are beginning to realize that it is in common stocks that the money is being made. They do know, however, that it requires somewhat of an expert to know what companies are reasonably sure to give results, and what are the most dangerous speculations. The strong companies' stock are sold at such high figures, and the return is so small in the way of dividends, that there are many among the investing public who look for common stock which give large immediate returns. Such an immediate large return is a bad sign. Those who would have fairly adequate immediate large returns should hold to bonds and preferred stocks. Those who know, and who can await returns, alone should go into the market for common stocks. All others are running with fire so far as their savings are concerned.

HEAR AND HONOR SOUSA

John Philip Sousa, the great band leader, will be in Santa Ana on the eighth of November. He is to speak before the Lions Club at noon and then render a program with his famous band in the afternoon at the high school. All who can possibly hear Sousa either at noon or later in the afternoon with the band should do so. He is one of the great characters of the world. He is 75 years of age and is not likely to make many return trips to Santa Ana.

He was born in the city of Washington in 1854. He was a teacher of music at 15 and a conductor of a band at 17. At 26 he was band leader of the United States Marine Corps and has directed his own famous Sousa band since 1892. He has toured Europe and the world a number of times, was decorated with the Victorian Order, the Palms of the Academy, and the great Diploma of Honor. He is a composer of note and an author.

He will undoubtedly be greeted at the Lions Club at noon with a fine audience and a great crowd will undoubtedly desire to hear the selections in the afternoon.

Third Party Dries Get Instructions

San Bernardino Sun

Members of the Prohibition party who desire to vote for Herbert Hoover must vote for the Republican Presidential electors instead of the Prohibition party electors, it has been announced by high officials of the third-party dries.

The Prohibition party placed on the ballot the same electors as the Republican party, expecting that the votes would be consolidated. The secretary of state, however, ruled that this cannot be done.

In other words, votes for the Prohibition party Hoover electors will be votes thrown away as far as the actual contest is concerned.

A statement has just been issued by J. C. Bell, state chairman of the Prohibition organization, and W. I. Hull, Los Angeles county chairman, asking for their party members to vote for the Republican Presidential electors. The statement follows:

"The California Prohibition party is for Herbert Hoover. In view, however, of a ruling by the secretary of state, it is probable that votes cast for the Prohibition party presidential electors cannot be counted for Mr. Hoover. The issue in this campaign, insofar as the Prohibition party is concerned, is at least as plain and obvious. We are supporting Mr. Hoover against Mr. Smith. Therefore, we earnestly urge all members of our party to vote for the Republican presidential electors. In that way they may be certain they are voting to place Mr. Hoover in the White House, and that their ballots will not be lost."

There are 935 Prohibition party votes registered in San Bernardino county. They will be interested in this new turn of events in their political affairs.

They Still Pay

San Diego Union

A police chief in Los Angeles has been accused of having made "derogatory remarks" concerning World War veterans of that city who had applied for preferential treatment by the city's civil service commission. He was reported to have said that any veteran who had not rehabilitated himself in the 10 years since the war was an incompetent failure. That remark, if made, was derogatory; but it was less derogatory to the veterans than to the man who made it. It is not an uncommon remark, but it is typical of an ignorant, shiftless and stupid viewpoint which does small credit to those who hold it.

There are of course ex-soldiers who are incompetent and who were born that way. But only a man wholly ignorant of war's wreckage would expand that and apply it to all the men who still suffer from things that happened in France 10 years ago.

Last week funeral services were held in this city for one of the World war's victims. He was a young man, keen, eager, unusually intelligent, known and liked by hundreds who enjoyed the wares he made a business of selling—he was a dealer in books. He was neither physically nor mentally an incompetent. He collapsed and died under the strain of worry and illness which a man unscathed by the war without doubt could have shaken off. Some of his good friends did not know that he had been shell-shocked and gassed in France. He kept it quiet.

That is one case out of many thousands. Only a cocksure and unfeeling ignoramus could brand these troubled, shaken, injured men as "incompetents." We owe them all the kindly understanding that it is in us to give.

Nicaragua Ready To Vote

Oakland Tribune

Registration for the Nicaraguan election to be held on November 1 is way ahead of any in the country's history. It is now predicted that more than 100,000 votes will be cast, against the 82,000 in 1924 and the main reason is that the old practice of frightening prospective registrants has been ended.

With an American official in every voting booth and Americans to count the votes, Nicaragua is looking forward to an expression which will settle beyond doubt a political controversy which has long been muddled or made hazy by the conflicting allegations of fraud and intimidation. Even this year the American officials in charge have received hundreds of complaints of attempts to prevent men from registering.

Of course, the whole test of this acceptance by the United States of the Nicaraguan plea for a supervised election, will come in the reactions after the votes are counted. If history repeats, the losing side will allege fraud and the losing candidate will seek to rally revolution behind his cause.

It is a thankless job the Marines are performing but one which, with their characteristic thoroughness, they are putting through in a way to win high praise.

C. D. Hamilton For Hoover

Banning Record

C. D. Hamilton of Banning is wearing a Hoover button. Mr. Hamilton has been a life-long Democrat and has supported such well known and universally loved Democratic Presidents as Cleveland and Wilson. When his party took on Tammany Hall an excess baggage Mr. Hamilton rebelled, and is doing excellent work for Hoover in Riverside county. His example is followed by hundreds of life-long Democrats in this county.

Mr. Hamilton is president of the California Almond Growers Exchange and his support of Hoover undoubtedly comes, in part, from the fear that tariff meddling would put the almond growing industry back a quarter of a century. California made a valiant fight in Congress for protection on almonds, walnuts and fruits, and it would be indeed novelties to play fire in this election and jeopardize the advantage which has been gained through years of persistent endeavor.

Just Another Little Sheep Gone Wrong!

More Truth Than Poetry

WEST TO EAST

China has not increased in population for two hundred years.

Get busy, dull slumbering nation
No wonder you're poor and oppressed,
There can only be death in stagnation.
Take a tip from the live hustling west.
Have done with your indolent shirking
Write "China" all over the sky
Get some live advertising clubs working
And you'll get on the map by and by.

To too long you've been stupidly sleeping,
But it's never too late to come back
Tell the world how much rice you are reaping
And the tonnage of tea that you pack.
Get a good active Wall Street connection
And the money will come on the hop
To develop your mineral section
And to market your ivory crop.

Step out and become a great nation
Don't be shy about making a noise,
What you need is a good aggregation
Of Kiwanis and Rotary boys.
Cut loose from your mouldy old tether
Let a few million Westerners in
And then you can all get together
And booz for Canton and Pekin.

Let your motto henceforth be "Get Busy!"
And blaze it all over the place
For a while you'll be just a bit dizzy
But you soon will get used to the pace.
Plant developments, sites and additions
From Mongolia down to Hong Kong
Boost your climate and living conditions
And you soon will be where you belong!

Dr. Frank Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

DISCIPLINE AND SUICIDE

Suicide stands for the absolute collapse of a personality. The thoroughbred is one who goes on no matter what happens. In a New York play some years ago was the line as follows: "You go till you can't go any further, you stand it for the limit of human endurance, and then you stand it for another minute." That expresses the indomitable will of man.

History is full of instances where men have surmounted apparently insurmountable obstacles. Crippled, they have gone on fighting on their knees. Deaf and blind, they have not acknowledged defeat.

Henley's lines about one's head being "bloody but unbowed" express the sentiment of heroism in all of us.

Since the ending of the war the suicide rate has gone up all over the world.

To avoid starvation, it is said, entire families in China have poisoned themselves.

All this presents a very serious question. What makes life worth living? And what is it makes us want to quit it?

If we think the matter over carefully we can hardly help coming to the conclusion that the joy of life is inseparably bound up with discipline.

We are full of strange forces. Our passions, desires, longings, ambitions, hopes and shames act within us as fierce electricities.

The first lesson of youth should be discipline.

Not by some one else, but by one's self.

It is not obedience, but self mastery, that brings power and joy.

It is the undisciplined who slump.

It is they who have never learned, and have not perfected in practice the art of self-control, who rush to suicide.

Suicide is the tragedy of weakness. Strength and the disciplined soul never experience tragedy.

They should triumph, as did Socrates drinking his poison and Jesus upon the cross. We do not pity these two, we stand in awe of them.

The most fundamental and the trust of all creeds is belief in life. And we do not believe in life unless we master it.

To be continually blown about, to rush from excess to regret, alternatively to noddie and curse a bad habit, to whine everlasting at the inevitable, to be a plaything of events and to have no skill of adjustment—this is the story of the undisciplined.

And it is the high road to suicide.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

LINDBERGH AND LOAFERS

It is always flattering to a journalist to have his readers remember his contents after the day's issue of the paper has been thrown away.

"What about Lindbergh?" they all said in effect. "He did not see fit to apply himself to the tasks set for him in Wisconsin classrooms in a manner that would result in high marks, and yet he has handled himself and done his work in such a notable manner that you now confer upon him an honorary degree."

I want to call attention to an all-too-often overlooked aspect of Colonel Lindbergh's career as a student.

Much has been made of the fact that Colonel Lindbergh, while in the university, worked on problems other than the problems put to him by the professors, on problems more intimately related to the major interest of his life that was even powerfully dominating his mind.

The most important part of this statement that has been made so often is not that Colonel Lindbergh did not work on the problems put to him by the professors, but that he did work on problems he put to himself.

And a little later when he
